CARE
Community Archival Resilience and Engagement

Seeking Community Interviewers

JACKIE HONG

Learn how to conduct oral history interviews with Asian American elders!
Compensation available ($25/hr)

Requirements:
- 18-30 yrs old
- Reside in the Bay Area
- Conversational-level Thai, Iu Mien, Lao, or Tagalog language
- Available to participate in June 2024 and in Fall semester 2024

If you are interested, see the QR Code for the application form!

Application due April 30, 11:59pm.

CARE
Community Archival
Resilience and Engagement

Recruitment Script:

CARE Project, under UC Berkeley's Asian American Research Center, is a federal grant-funded oral history project with two community organizations in San Francisco who serve Filipino and Southeast Asian American elders. We are looking for Community Interviewers to learn how to conduct oral history interviews with elders at Bayanihan Equity Center and Lao Seri Association about their lives during the COVID-19 pandemic. You will be trained on how to conduct the interviews, and you will be matched with approximately 2 elders to interview. You will be paid $25 per hour for the training and the interviews via gift cards.

Community Interviewer Criteria:
1. 18-30 years of age
2. Bicultural/bilingual in conversational Tagalog, Thai, Mien, or Lao language
3. A local San Francisco Bay Area resident
4. Be available:
   a. Interview training at UC Berkeley in late May or early June 2024
   b. To conduct the first in-person interview in San Francisco in June 2024
   c. To conduct the second in-person interview in San Francisco in Fall 2024.

Email aapicovidexperience@gmail.com for questions.

Applications due April 30, 11:59pm via Google Form.